WHEN Giovanni Massarella and his brothers left Settefratti in central Italy over one hundred and fifty years ago to settle in the new world of America, they could not have imagined that their decision to stop off in England and then settle in South Yorkshire would result in the family, five generations later, still upholding their values and the love they had for food, and the land it came from. Those values are clear to be seen here at Caff  Massarella. The food we offer our customers is the type of food that our Nonnas and our Mamm s have cooked for us for generations. We’ve searched for the freshest ingredients with the finest provenance we could find, using products from Italian and Yorkshire artisan producers where possible, which reflect our family tradition of simple ingredients, cooked with passion and served with love. We hope that our team here will welcome you, look after you, and serve you with the real taste of Italy. Buon appetito!
